

INFORMATION TO SHAREHOLDERS

Who are we and what do we do with your personal data?

IGD SIIQ S.p.A., hereinafter the Data Controller, protects the confidentiality of your personal data and provides it with the necessary protection from any event that may put it at risk of violation.

For this purpose, the Data Controller implements policies and practices regarding the collection and use of personal data and the exercise of your rights under applicable law. The Data Controller is responsible for updating the policies and practices adopted for the protection of personal data whenever necessary and in any case in the event of regulatory and organisational changes that may affect the processing of your personal data.

The Data Controller appointed a Data Protection Officer (DPO) who you can contact if you have questions about adopted policies and practices. The contact details of the Data Protection Officer are as follows: dpo@gruppoigd.it

How does the Data Controller collect and process your data?

The Data Controller collects and/or receives information about you, such as: name, surname, place and date of birth, tax code and/or VAT number, phone number, physical and electronic address, current account number. They are used by the Data Controller to manage its relationship as a shareholder of the Company IGD SIIQ S.p.A. and to fulfil the legal and regulatory obligations to which the Data Controller is subject depending on the activity carried on. The communication of your personal data is mainly to third parties and/or recipients whose activities are needed for the proper carrying out of the service or to improve the products/services that the Data Controller offers you, and also to comply with certain legal obligations or prescribed for the control and supervision of the activity carried on. Any communication that does not comply with these purposes will be subject to your consent. Your data (such as name, surname, physical or logical address, mobile and/or land line phone number) may also be processed for sales promotion, for market surveys with regard to the products and services that the Data Controller offers you only if you authorise the processing and/or if you do not oppose this.

The Data Controller does not transfer your personal data abroad. Your personal data will not be in any way disseminated or disclosed to unspecified subjects not even identifiable as third parties.

Your personal information will be processed for:

1) the management of your relationship as a shareholder and the consequent obligations, regulatory or otherwise

Your personal data is processed in order to carry out the preliminary activities and the activities resulting from the management of your relationship as a shareholder of the Data Controller Company, such as for example: sending communications concerning the company's activities, guaranteeing attendance at Company meetings, exercising rights as a shareholder of the Company, as well as for the fulfilment of any other obligation arising from the contract, such as the recording and storage of your personal data.

The obligations to be fulfilled by the Data Controller under the contract and under specific regulations governing it are, among other things:

- the keeping of the accounts;

Your personal data is also collected from third parties such as, for example:

- lists and records kept by or under the authority of public authorities or similar bodies in accordance with specific national and/or international regulations;
- private and public bodies operating in the sector within the national and international territory with which the data controller established information relations;

The personal data that the Data Controller processes for this purpose is, among others:

- name, surname, tax code or VAT number, place and date of birth, physical and electronic address, telephone number;

2) communication to third parties and recipients

Your personal data is processed under the contract and the legal and regulatory obligations resulting from it.

Your data will not be disclosed to third parties/recipients for their own purposes unless:

1. you authorise to do so;
2. it is necessary for the fulfilment of obligations under the contract and law regulations governing it (e.g. for the defence of your rights, for reporting to the supervisory authorities, etc.);
3. the communication is made to auditing companies of the financial statements; quality assurance companies; members of the Board of Directors and the Board of Statutory Auditors, banks for managing collections and payments; companies and law firms to assist in the carrying out of corporate transactions; data processing and IT service companies (e.g. web hosting, data entry, management and maintenance of IT infrastructures and services, etc.);
4. the communication is made to the tax authorities and to public supervisory and control bodies towards which the Data Controller must fulfil specific obligations deriving from the specific nature of the activity carried on;
5. they are delegated or have the right, legally recognised, to receive your personal data. This is the case, for example, with family members, cohabiting partners or legal representatives (trustees, guardians, etc.).

Moreover, your personal data may be disclosed in order to comply with the legal obligations governing the financial markets and with the obligations arising from the regulations of CONSOB.

3) IT security purposes

The Data Controller processes, also through its suppliers (third parties and/or recipients), your personal data, including IT (e.g. logical access) or traffic data collected or obtained in the case of services displayed on the website www.gruppoigd.it to the extent strictly necessary and proportionate to ensure the security and capacity of a network or its servers to withstand, at a given level of security, unforeseen events or unlawful or malicious acts that compromise the availability, authenticity, integrity and confidentiality of retained or transmitted personal data.

For these purposes, the Data Controller envisages procedures for the management of personal data breach in compliance with the legal obligations to which it is subject.

What happens if you do not provide your data?

If you do not provide your personal data, the Data Controller will not be able to carry out the processing operations related to the management of the contract and its services or the obligations that depend on it.

The intention of the Data Controller was to carry out certain processing operations in accordance with certain legitimate interests that do not affect your right to confidentiality, such as those that:

- prevent IT accidents and allow notification to the supervisory authority or communication to users, if necessary, of the personal data breach;
- allow communication to third parties/recipients for activities related to those of contract management.

How and for how long is your data retained?

Your personal data is processed by both electronic and manual means and tools made available to subjects acting under the authority of the Data Controller authorised and trained for this purpose. The paper and, above all, electronic files where your data is stored and retained are protected by effective and adequate security measures to counter the risks of violation considered by the Data Controller. It checks regularly and constantly the measures adopted, especially for electronic and telematic tools, as a guarantee for the confidentiality of personal data processed, stored and retained by them, especially if belonging to special categories.

Personal data is retained for the time necessary for carrying out the activities related to the management of the contract with the Data Controller and for the fulfilment of the resulting obligations, including legal obligations. For data intended for marketing purposes (direct marketing, market surveys), for which you have given consent, you are always allowed to oppose its processing and/or to withdraw consent.

Computer files are located within the EU (and EEA) borders and are not intended to be connected to or interact with databases located abroad.

How

Data processing is carried out on paper or through IT procedures by internal subjects authorised and trained for this purpose. They are granted access to your personal data to the extent and within the limits required for carrying out the processing activities that concern you.

The Data Controller periodically checks the tools by means of which your data is processed and its security measures, which it constantly updates; it makes sure, also through the subjects authorised to process the data, that personal data for which processing is not necessary is not collected, processed, stored or retained; it makes sure that the data is retained with the guarantee of integrity and authenticity of its use for the purposes of the processing actually carried out.

Where

The data is retained on paper, computer and electronic files located within the European Economic Area, and appropriate security measures are ensured.

How long

The personal data processed by the Data Controller is retained for the time necessary for the carrying-out of activities related to the management of the relationship with the Data Controller and until ten years after its conclusion (art. 2946 of the Italian Civil Code) or from when the rights that depend on it can be enforced (pursuant to art. 2935 of the Italian Civil Code); as well as for the fulfilment of the obligations (e.g. tax and accounting obligations) that remain even after the conclusion of the relationship (art. 2220 of the Italian Civil Code), for the purposes of which the Data Controller must retain only the data necessary for their furtherance. This is without prejudice to the cases in which the rights deriving from the contract should be asserted in court, in which case your data, only that necessary for these purposes, will be processed for the time necessary to pursue them.

This is without prejudice to your right to oppose at any time the processing based on legitimate interest for reasons related to your particular situation.

What are your rights?

In substance, at any time and free of charge and without any special charges or formalities for your request, you can:

- obtain confirmation of the processing carried out by the Data Controller;
- access your personal data and know its origin (when the data is not obtained directly from you), the purposes of the processing, the data of the subjects to whom it is communicated, the period of retention of your data or the criteria used to determine it;
- withdraw your consent at any time if this is the basis for the processing. In any case, the withdrawal of consent does not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal;
- update or rectify your personal data so that it is always accurate and correct;
- erase your personal data from the databases and/or files, including backup files, of the Data Controller, if, among other things, it is no longer necessary for the purposes of the processing or if this is deemed unlawful, and provided that the conditions laid down by law are met; and in any event if the processing is not justified by another equally legitimate reason;
- restrict the processing of your personal data in some circumstances, for example if you have contested its accuracy, for the period required for the Data Controller to check its accuracy. You must also be informed, in reasonable time, of when the period of suspension has ended or the cause of the restriction of processing has ceased to exist, and therefore the restriction itself withdrawn;
- obtain your personal data, if received and/or in any case processed by the Data Controller with your consent and/or if its processing is carried out on the basis of a contract and with automated tools, in electronic format also in order to transmit it to another data controller.

The Data Controller must do so without delay and, in any case, at the latest within one month of receipt of your request. The time limit can be extended by two months, if necessary, taking into account the complexity and the number of requests received by the Data Controller. In such cases, the Data Controller will inform you of the reasons for the extension within one month of receipt of your request.

For any further information and to send your request, please contact the Data Controller at privacy@gruppoidg.it.

How and when can you oppose the processing of your personal data?

For reasons relating to your specific situation, you may oppose at any time the processing of your personal data if this is based on legitimate interest or if it is for marketing purposes (direct marketing,
