RESPONSIBLE SUPPLY CHAIN POLICY

Effective 1/10/2024

INTRODUCTION – ESG Strategy

IGD SIIQ is the Italian leader of the retail real estate sector: IGD buys shopping centers, hypermarkets, supermarkets and/or malls, already operational or newly built, in Italy and Romania, in order to create long-term value. The company is also involved in property management and provides services to its mall tenants.

Beginning in 2011 IGD, aware of the importance of social and environmental responsibility in pursuing healthy and long-term growth, decided to embark on a structured sustainability path.

Since 2013 IGD has included sustainability in its strategic planning, involving both internal and external stakeholders. The "Becoming G.R.E.A.T." strategy, launched in 2017, testifies the desire to promote sustainable growth which focuses on environmental issues (Green), people (Responsible), ethics (Ethical), in attractive places (Attractive), together with the stakeholders (Together)¹.

The company identifies and regularly updates the material issues to determine targets and assess sustainability risks; each year IGD monitors the results achieved and reported in the sustainability report, the content of which is defined based on the relative international standards, as well as those specific to the real estate sector.

In 2012 the company undertook a path leading to both environmental and ethical certification of its activities. At the end of 2023 the environmental management system and 95% of the real estate portfolio were ISO14001 certified. At the same date, 10 of the Company's shopping centers (or 64% of the total value) had obtained BREEAM IN USE certification. In 2020 IGD's "Anti bribery management system" also obtained UNI ISO 37001:2016 certification.

IGD has joined the Global Compact, the most relevant sustainability initiative worldwide promoted by the United Nations, since 2020.

In accordance with Legislative Decree 231/2001, in 2006 IGD adopted the Organizational, Management and Control model to ensure honesty and transparency in business transactions and company activities for all stakeholders. The Company has amended this Model over time, in order to comply with regulatory changes (the most recent amendment was approved during the BoD's meeting held on 1/8/2024 and can be found on the company's website at <https://www.gruppoigd.it/en/governance/business-ethics/organizational-model/>).

The basic principles of this document

- IGD intends to build long term relationships with its suppliers based on the understanding of how important a shared commitment to sustainability is.
- This Responsible Supply Chain Policy defines what Gruppo IGD views as the standards needed for safe and healthy working conditions, as well as the environmental responsibilities along the supply chain, consistent with the Group's sustainability strategy "Becoming G.R.E.A.T."

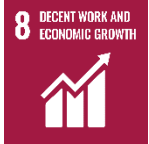

¹ For more information refer to the following pages on the corporate website <https://www.gruppoigd.it/en/sustainability/our-sustainability-strategy/> and <https://www.gruppoigd.it/en/sustainability/our-priorities/>

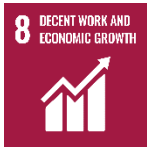

Who and which activities are covered by the policy

- The provisions of this document are applicable to all of Gruppo IGD's business partners within the scope of their collaboration with the company, namely providers of goods and services, as well as contractors. This Policy is applicable to all contracts with a value of more than €10,000. This Policy is also applicable to the Consortia through which IGD exercises operational control in the shopping centers.
- Any sub-contractors and similar along the Group's supply chain are subject to the same provisions. For this reason, IGD encourages the supplier to promote the principles described in the Responsible Supply Chain Policy with the suppliers and sub-contractors with whom the supplier works to provide products and services to the Group.
- The suppliers who work with the Company must acknowledge having received and read this document: signing this document is, in fact, of fundamental importance to the next step, namely signing the contract.
- By signing this document, the supplier declares to have examined, as well as understood, the details and provisions therein, and will take all the steps needed to comply with its essential components.
- This document will be published on the company website and may be updated and amended over time. The Company will inform the suppliers affected of the changes made.
